

Veylan

The heavily forested region of Veylan is where the most amazing natural landscape still remains in Novus.

The vast and deep Crescendo Canyons attract people from all over Novus as they are still rich with minerals and gems.

The immense City in the Trees, called Vey, was created thousands of years ago by the now extinct Elves. Great structures spiral up the trunks of the elder trees, and connect from treetop to treetop via wooden bridges and pathways. The humans that now run the astounding city continue to develop the ground level with their own buildings and creations.

Deep into the forest is much more dangerous, as the wildlife of Novus has become much more volatile and hostile. The Dark Woods of Veyland can be a frightening place for those not trained in combat and self defense.

Just off the coast the giant Skullrock Island is now the home of the terrifying Sea Hydra, Osira. She is constantly wandering around the island and the coast, decimating ships and devouring those who stray too close to her claimed territory.

The most unusual sight in Veyland is the city in the clouds created by the powerful wizard, Zondara. He has been able to use the magical energy of Novus to raise sections of the earth and combine them into his own landscape up in the clouds. Anyone is invited to see the city, but most have no desire to travel through his magical portal or see the world from such extreme heights.
